

The Higher Hotel Institute Cyprus,
the French Institute Cyprus, the Cyprus Chefs Association and the University of Cyprus (Department of French and European Studies and the Language Center) in the framework of the Celebration of the Francophonie 2022 announce the organization of a Gastronomic Competition with the theme:

«Gourmet menu with local products: the Halloumi cheese»

March 30, 2022
HHIC, Nicosia

Who can participate

The competition is open to students of tertiary education institutions, in the field of Gastronomy, that have completed at least one year of study and one semester of a French Language course.

Aim

The aim of the competition is to celebrate the French language and its use in Gastronomy. At the same time the competition aims to showcase the excellence and creativity of the French gastronomy while promoting the use of local products in the framework of sustainable development.

The competition will be preceded by Master Classes/Seminars with distinguished specialists related to the theme of the competition leading up to the day of the event. Master Classes and/or Seminars will be open to students and institutions (faculty and other students upon request and based on availability) participating in the competition.
